Attorney Chas. DeMolay of this city was on Sunday admitted to practice before the State Supreme court.

John the Federated Cubs on their excursion to Salt Lake Thursday, July 6, via R. G. W. Round trip fare $1.25.

Geo. E. Howe of Provo is a world beater on bicycle bargains. He has a full line of ladies', gents' and boys' who is.

Only a few Provo people went out of town yesterday, most of them profiting to celebrate the glorious Fourth in the Garden City.

We trust any shortage of matter in this issue will be excused by our readers. THE DEMOCRAT force celebrated the Fourth of July.

Fresh trout, Utah black bass, strawberries, new vegetables and all of the delicacies of the season at Geo. E. Howe's grocery store.

You are not on the right track if you do not smoke Provo made cigars. Ask your dealer for them and take no other. None as clean and good.

John S. Hille, court stenographer of the sixth district, came up from Richfield Sunday evening and expects to spend a month's vacation in Provo.

R. V. E. Kirby of the Methodist church returned from his trip to Charleston, S. C., where he preached for three Sundays. He reports a pleasant trip.

State patent for 40 acres issued to Nels Larsen for new 1/2 sec 16, tp 6, r 2e, was filed for record July 1. The land is situated on Provo Bench northeast of Provo city.

Have your abstracts prepared by Haverkamp & Co. They show every transfer, liens and judgments, to any property in Utah county. Write them at Provo, Utah, '25.

The Federated Women's Clubs have their annual excursion to Salt Lake Friday, July 6, via R. G. W. Train leaves Provo 8:27 a.m. Round trip fare to Salt Lake City $1.25.

Geo. Martin and wife, Chas. Kropp and wife, W. W. Freckleton and wife and G. G. G. Beck came over from Ensign Monday morning to attend to some business and celebrate the Fourth with friends.

Geo. Dusenberry is over from Mercur on business.

County Treasurer O. F. Malmberg spent the Fourth in Santaquin.

Go to Salt Lake with the ladies tomorrow; $1.25 to Salt Lake and return.

Jos. Thompson returned Monday morning after several months stay in Tiptoe.

THE DEMOCRAT was represented in the parade yesterday by Uncle Sam in full uniform.

Judge Booth has not yet completed a full course on the bike. At least he doesn't trust it when he is after a train.

Interesting patriotic exercises were held by the M. L. A. Sunday evening at the Tabernacle, presided over by J. D. Dixon.

D. P. E. L., who has been on the southern mission for the past two years, returned to his home in Springville yesterday.

Alex Gillespie came over from Mercur Monday evening and will remain here for a week or so visiting his family and friends.

At the meeting of the city council Monday evening, resolutions of respect to the memory of our martyred officer, William Strong, were unanimously passed.

Go with the Women's Clubs to Salt Lake tomorrow. Round trip to Salt Lake and return $1.25. Special train returning will leave Salt Lake 10 p.m.; Salt Lake 10:45 p.m.

A big batch of feds was filed Monday by the Utah Sugar company for lands situated on the right of way of their proposed pipe line between Lehi and Springville.

T. H. Martin, formerly local superintendent of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company, left Tuesday morning for Ogden where he will hereafter make his headquarters.

The board of county commissioners were in session Monday and today for the transaction of routine business. Full report of their proceedings will be given in our issue of Saturday.

A reception was given in honor of Bishop Leonard at the home of Miss McGuire Monday by Miss McGuire and Mrs. Reed. Full details will be given in our society column Saturday.

Complaints were sworn to Monday evening before Justice King charging L. S. Mechem and Walter C. H. water with unlawfully catching trout. Hearing will probably be held this afternoon.

All of the newspaper boys regret the retirement of F. A. Wad. As General Passenger Agent of the Rio Grande West, but an equally capable man, Geo. W. Hein.

Matt Jaques died at 4 o'clock this morning of rheumatism of the heart after an illness of several weeks. The deceased was a blacksmith and had been in the employ of L. L. Evans for several years. He was 38 years of age and leaves a wife and one child.

Clarence Carter on Tuesday morning fell down stairs at the lodging house of John Grier and hurt himself quite severely. Dr. Robinson was called and states that Carter has a bad cut over the left eye and a slight fracture of the skull, besides bruises on the face and head. The injuries while severe are not dangerous.

Benjamin Bullock of Provo, who is here visiting with his brother, has just received information from home that a letter from box B is awaiting him at home. The card is to Great Britain. Mr. Bullock expects to start about July 22. If Brother Bullock could wait until the 5th of August we might find each other heads while crossing the pont.—Verna. Express.

In the Salt Lake Temple on Wednesday, Wilford C. Nuttall of Provo and Delia Eliza Lowe of Willard City, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The bride is the accomplished daughter of William and Elizabeth Cardon Lowe. The groom is well known in scholastic circles and is the son of L. John Nuttall of the president's office and Elizabeth C. Nuttall.—Deseret News.

In regard to the report of the Salt Lake Tribune this morning to the effect that Cal Cragen was arrested yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace, we desire to say that this report is an error. Mr. Cragen was not arrested nor has any charge been made against him. From what we can learn Myron Tanner, his father-in-law, made a vicious and unprovoked assault upon Cragen with a loaded cane when Cragen called to see his children who are staying with Mrs. Cragen at Tanner's house. Cragen will probably enter a complaint against Tanner.

Patents Filed.

United States patents were filed on Monday with the county recorder as follows:

To Frank Harris for 80 acres being 1/2 of sec 1 and 1/2 of sec 2, tp 27, r 14 s. R. 8 east, lying near F. V. Junction.

To John N. Litchby for 160 acres, being 1/2 of sec 1 and 1/2 of sec 2 of sec 27, tp 6 s. R. 3 east, lying northeast of Provo.

ACTORS IN PRIVATE LIFE.

One of Them Criticizes Their Dress and Their Art.

A well known actor is quoted thus by the New York Advertiser:

"I don't know why an actor should think it necessary to dress in such a manner as to proclaim his profession to all who pass him on the street. We often hear, 'He looks like an actor,' but rarely, 'He looks like an electrician,' or 'He looks like a banker.' Now, it seems to me that, like and for like, a man ought to try to look like a gentleman. His business should not be stamped upon his face. There is no reason why an actor or an artist should be a walking advertisement of his profession. Artists do not think a velvet coat and long hair necessary to produce a canvas of merit, nor should enormous plaids and flashy jewels be part of the stock in trade of the rising young actor.

"An actor should endeavor as much as possible to avoid things pertaining to the theater when his work is over just as the banker turns from his business as he leaves his office. He should mix as much as possible with people of other professions and with men of business and society. In this way he broadens his life, gets an idea of more than one phase of it and takes the rest from his work that he can not get if surrounded by others of his own profession. How can a man play a part in life of which he knows nothing? To put on a wig and wear the lines of the author is not sufficient. The Rialto has been on the rules of many a prominent actor. Let him go out into the side streets of the city or anywhere he can study life—rather than mix constantly with those that can tell him only what he already knows.

"Many of our most successful artists are men who chose for their intimate friends writers, musicians and actors in preference to men who, like themselves, earn their living by their brush. They realize that by so doing they come in contact with people whose interests in life are different and who are often of the greatest possible assistance to them. An actor or a writer may suggest to a painter an idea out of which grows the picture that will make his reputation."

Hobson as a Kiss.

And as a daring and competent naval officer has obtained a world wide reputation, but it is no greater than that of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway as a caterer to the comfort and safety of the general traveling public. Being the short line between Omaha and Chicago, and running the finest trains between those points, it is natural that they should have obtained that reputation.

Our trains are all lighted by electricity, heated by steam and solid vestibuled; consisting of palace day coaches, elegant chair cars, modern library cars, superb sleeping cars, and a royal "Ais Carte" dining car service, running over a rock blasted, steel rail track, on special fast time, give you a service for comfort, safety and convenience not to be obtained by any other route. Try us once and be convinced. Ask your ticket agent for C. M. & St. P. tickets and take no other. Write for maps, time tables, etc.

Notes About People.

The Empress Frederick's favorite amusement is croquet.

When Joseph Chamberlain makes a speech his notes never exceed a single sheet of note paper.

At Trieste Rock, where New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania meet, Mrs. Uriah Brown was baptized last Sunday in three States at once.

Nansen, the Arctic explorer, is now fitted with an ambition to try the Antarctic regions, and he hopes to have an expedition organized and ready to start by 1902.

A New York friend of General Funston says that before selling for Manila Mr. Funston said: "I wouldn't go into politics for anything. I am afraid I have no settled ambition at all."

Mrs. Richard P. Bland, the widow of the late congressman is said to have been left practically penniless. She was just recovering from an illness when her husband died, and is still prostrated by the shock.

The diary of Andrew Walker, railroad engineer, who died recently at Terre Haute, shows that during his fifty years of service he guided his engine over 1,000,918 miles of track and that during all that time no train of which he was the pilot met with an accident of a serious character.

In a letter just received from Surgeon B. C. of the Thirtieth Minnesota, now in the Philippines, he says that in the 1100 cases of wounded soldiers who had gone to the hospital up to the time of his writing, there were only three cases of amputation. He properly adds that this is a remarkable record.

Of Lord Salisbury's five sons, the oldest and the youngest are in Parliament. The third, Lord Robert Cecil, is a barrister. The premier's fourth son, Lord Edward Cecil, is a lieutenant in the Grenadiers, and has the Douglas expedition of 1896 to his credit. Lord Ernest, the second son, is in the church.

President Andrew S. Draper, of the University of Illinois, who has come forward as a candidate for the nomination for governor of that State by the Republican party, is one of the foremost educators in this country. For two years he was the State superintendent of schools in Cleveland, and under his administration they won the reputation of being the finest public schools in America.

CHEAP RATES.

GIRLS' WARLIKE ROOM.

The Visitor at First Glance Thinks Him in a Camp.

There are still reminiscences of war in the air. Two nice girls who have warrior tooth for, lovers and friends have decorated a room with the trophies brought home by all these admiring young men, and when friends are taken to see it they are not quite sure at first whether they are in Porto Rico, Camp Wikoff, or some other military encampment, says the New York Times. The walls in the room are, in the first place, covered with cadet blue cartridge paper, which makes an excellent background for guns, swords, military capes and big pictures of military heroes—Dewey, Hobson and a few others—photographs framed artistically by the girls themselves. These frames are of dark gray cardboard that is used so much for photograph mounts, and with a margin of black painted on directly around the picture. These colors match the portieres of the room, which are of a dark gray, with black stripes and are nothing more or less than army blankets, which make most effective hangings.

O: The Period.

"And now, Cassimers," rapturously whispered the young man, "it only remains for you to name the day."

"I will marry you, Orlando," she replied, as the blushes chased each other over her lovely face, on the first day of the twentieth century."

And Orlando abjectly surrendered the point that had been so long in dispute between them. In defiance of every dictate of reason, common sense and the plainest elementary principles of mathematics, he murmured:

"You are right, dearest. It begins Jan. 1, 1900."—Chicago Tribune.

Family of Musical Tastes.

A gentleman of decided and highly cultivated musical tastes, wishing to change his residence, advertised for rooms in "a private family home of music." The next mail brought him the following reply:

"Dear Sir:—I think we could accommodate you with rooms, and as for music one of my daughters plays the parlor organ and guitar; another one plays the accordion and banjo; I play a cornet and fiddle; my wife plays the harmonica, and my son the flute. We all sing and if you are good at tenor singing you would fit right in when we go to singing gospel hymns evenings, for none of us sing tenor. Or if you play the base viol we have one right here in the house. If you want music as well as board we could accommodate you and there would be no extra charge for it."

Eat the Hog.

A well known contractor of this town had a son, still under 20, who has been doing the roofing away from home ever since he attained his twelfth year. The "old man" has always been called upon to fetch the young chap back from remote points. None of the hard luck propositions up against which the boy has stacked while having fun with himself in this way has taught him a permanent lesson probably for the simple reason that he has always found it too easy a matter to get home by the same process of wiring his father for the price of a ticket. He went away a month ago, and his father didn't hear from him until yesterday. Then the old gentleman got a dispatch, dated Hastings, Neu. The message ran:

"Am on the hog. Wire me $40 for ticket home."

The old man went to the telephone office, got a blank, and wrote the following reply:

"Eat the hog."—Exchange.

Thought in Meant Girl.

They were strolling together one eve. He had suggested to charming S. L. But he hurried on by when he saw the sign:

"Try our ice cream on y $2 p. gal."

Grassopper and Ant.

A grasshopper wasted all the frosty days of winter in gaily skating over the frozen lake, while the prudent ant improved each gloomy hour by cutting ice and storing it away. When the summer was come and the thermometer ter 108 degrees in the shade the grasshopper approached the ant for a loan of $3. But the ant who loved money on good security only, said: "What were you doing last winter?" "Skating," Ah! well! Pledge my now." So the hungry grasshopper went to the hayfield where he dropped dead from a sun-stroke while the ant sat on the shady side of his house, drinking iced lemonade and reading French novels.—Ex.

Dead Easy.

Laundryman—You're a good ironer? How do you tell when the irons are too hot?

Laundry Applicant—Oh, sure, anybody with a nose can smell when a shirtfront is burning.
